

SHE WAS BENT ON SUICIDE.

MISS NOTION TRIED CHLORFORM, BUT HAD A PISTOL IN RESERVE.

A Young Woman, Evidently from New York, Miss Norton in a Boston Hotel—She Failed in Her First Attempt, and When a Doctor's Back Was Turned Shot Herself with a Revolver She Had Concealed.

BOSTON, March 19.—A woman, 30 years old, who registered at the Adams House on Saturday last as Miss Grace M. C. Norton of Holyoke, Mass., and who was in the city for a few days, but said she was from New York, committed suicide at 10 o'clock this afternoon while in her room.

She had written the word "Kismet" in a legible hand on a piece of paper which she had placed between the frame and mirror of the dressing case in the room where she ended her life. She made two attempts to hang herself. In the first attempt she used chloroform.

In the second she used a revolver successfully. Among her effects was a plain card, inscribed with numerals.

The woman seemed to be a stranger in Boston. So far as can be learned, she had no callers at the hotel. On Sunday she was away from the hotel a short time, but where she went no one knows.

On Monday morning she did not leave her room in the afternoon she called at the clerk's desk, asked how much her bill was, and said it. She indicated that she was going to leave the hotel.

That evening the clerk, thinking that she had gone, assigned another room to the woman who occupied the room in which she had committed suicide. She returned and informed him that Miss Norton had not left. Later he inquired if she was going to leave that night, and she told him that she guessed she would remain another night.

This morning, at 11 o'clock, when the chambermaid came to the door of her room, she found the door open. She entered the room and found the woman lying on the bed. She called for help and the doctor was summoned. She was pronounced dead.

SAILED AWAY TO LIBERIA.

Two Hundred Negro Colonists Leave Savannah Cleared by Thousands.

SAVANNAH, March 19.—The steamer Horsa, with 200 negro emigrants for Liberia, sailed from Savannah this afternoon. Five thousand negroes gathered on the wharf and cheered the ship as it passed down the river. Knobs of negroes began gathering on the wharf early this morning. The number kept increasing, and at noon several thousand were packed in the streets and lanes and covered the roofs of the adjacent buildings.

The effort by the Rev. C. S. Smith, Secretary of the Sunday School Union of the African Methodist Church, to prevent the departure of the vessel on the ground that she was not properly equipped failed to accomplish anything. The accommodations of the Horsa complied fully with the law, and the vessel passed a thorough inspection by the customs officers.

Shortly after noon the gates to the wharf, where the emigrants were waiting, were opened, and the negroes went on board. It was a grand procession, ranging in age from the baby in arms to the old man tottering on the verge of the grave. The women came first. One with a checked apron and a sunbonnet was followed by a jauntily dressed girl with gaudy plumes on her hat and a pair of bright ribbons.

Over 400 trunks and boxes were taken as baggage. In the boxes are agricultural implements, tools, clothing, and other articles. The party is well supplied with money. There is probably not a man in the party who has not sufficient money to purchase his passage for some time after landing in Liberia.

When the vessel's lines were cast off there were many who sang their parting song: "I'm Going Home to Africa's Shore." The crowd on the wharf was greatly surprised at those on shore, and the singing kept up until the vessel passed about 100 yards from the wharf. The party is well supplied with money. There is probably not a man in the party who has not sufficient money to purchase his passage for some time after landing in Liberia.

The Horsa expects to reach Monrovia about April 1, and after landing the emigrants will be taken to the Emergency Hospital for a physician. Dr. Judd answered the call and hurried to the hospital. The emigrants were taken to the hospital and the doctor examined them.

The physician and those outside the door hastened to the door. They discovered that she had died. The doctor was summoned and she was pronounced dead. The doctor examined her and found that she had died of chloroform poisoning.

The doctor then asked her if she had any other relatives in that city, but none could be found. The doctor then asked her if she had any other relatives in that city, but none could be found. The doctor then asked her if she had any other relatives in that city, but none could be found.

HE ENTERTAINED A NEGRO.

GOV. O'FERRALL OF VIRGINIA IN AN EMBARRASSING SITUATION.

A Massachusetts Legislative Committee called on him and he offered them $500,000 for the beautiful patterns, excellent wearing quality, and low prices that are combined in our Spring Carpets.

Wonderful bargains in last year's styles of all kinds of carpets. J. & J. DOBSON, 2 East 14th St., New York, 809-811 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

THIRTEEN YEARS OF COURSHIP. An Anti-Nuptial Agreement Stood in the Way of the Marriage Finally.

BALTIMORE, March 19.—After thirteen years of courtship the announcement was made that Miss Mary Harvey of Cecil county was to marry Mr. John Frazer of Elkton, Md. Mr. Frazer is about 33 years old, and Miss Harvey is ten years younger.

It was believed that during their long and matter-of-fact courtship every detail of the wedding had been discussed and agreed upon. The prospective groom had rented a handsome residence and had it renovated and newly furnished.

Last Thursday, the day named for the wedding, Mr. Frazer sent to the bride elect a marriage contract which he had drawn up. It was a contract which he had drawn up. It was a contract which he had drawn up.

On entering the house Mr. Frazer was informed that the bride elect had not yet arrived. He went to the door and found that she had not yet arrived. He went to the door and found that she had not yet arrived.

PROMOTER KELLAM CONVICTED. The Jury Recommends Him to the Mercy of the Court.

Hard to Get.

THE FACULTY STILL OPPOSED TO INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL.

They Discuss the Athletic Committee's Suggestions and Decide Against Them—The Spring Practice of the Eleven May Be Stopped—Will Harvard Be Represented in the College Conference on Rules?

CAMBRIDGE, March 19.—Once more the Harvard faculty have set their mark of displeasure on intercollegiate football. This last action was taken this afternoon, when they met and passed the following vote:

The faculty discussed and considered a communication from the committee on the regulation of athletic sports, dated Feb. 25, 1895, remain of opinion that no student under their charge should be permitted to take part in intercollegiate football contests.

To-night everybody was asking, "What does this mean?" It is singularly enigmatical. As a matter of fact, it means no more than it says at least just at present.

It is not final, but it is merely another expression of the faculty's opinion, which, added to its previously expressed opinion, makes it apparent to any one that football at Harvard is pretty near death's door.

It will be noticed that the wording is changed materially from the first vote. In the original vote it was stated that the Athletic Committee was notified that it was the desire of the faculty that intercollegiate contests be abolished.

By this wording there was a sort of conflict between the faculty and committee. There was a great deal of discussion over it, and many authorities were at a loss to define sharply the powers of each body.

Now, the faculty got around to discussing a short communication which is generally criticized by the colleges as unfair to the Athletic Committee.

Hard to Get.

THE FACULTY STILL OPPOSED TO INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL.

They Discuss the Athletic Committee's Suggestions and Decide Against Them—The Spring Practice of the Eleven May Be Stopped—Will Harvard Be Represented in the College Conference on Rules?

CAMBRIDGE, March 19.—Once more the Harvard faculty have set their mark of displeasure on intercollegiate football. This last action was taken this afternoon, when they met and passed the following vote:

The faculty discussed and considered a communication from the committee on the regulation of athletic sports, dated Feb. 25, 1895, remain of opinion that no student under their charge should be permitted to take part in intercollegiate football contests.

To-night everybody was asking, "What does this mean?" It is singularly enigmatical. As a matter of fact, it means no more than it says at least just at present.

It is not final, but it is merely another expression of the faculty's opinion, which, added to its previously expressed opinion, makes it apparent to any one that football at Harvard is pretty near death's door.

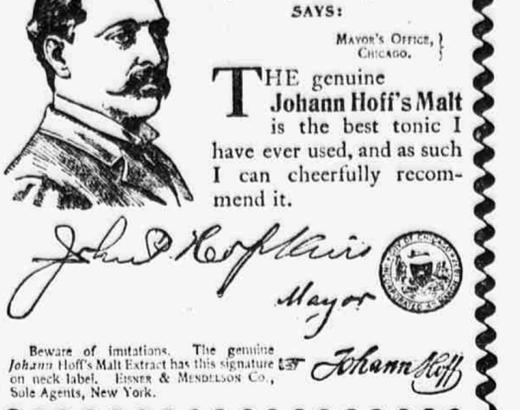

It will be noticed that the wording is changed materially from the first vote. In the original vote it was stated that the Athletic Committee was notified that it was the desire of the faculty that intercollegiate contests be abolished.

By this wording there was a sort of conflict between the faculty and committee. There was a great deal of discussion over it, and many authorities were at a loss to define sharply the powers of each body.

Now, the faculty got around to discussing a short communication which is generally criticized by the colleges as unfair to the Athletic Committee.

Mayor Hopkins.

THE genuine Johann Hoff's Malt is the best tonic I have ever used, and as such I can cheerfully recommend it.

THE UNIVERSITY A. C. WILL PROBABLY CONSENT TO HANDLE THE MATTER. The announcement in yesterday's Sun that Walter Camp and Alce Moffatt, the Advisory Committee of the Intercollegiate Football Association, had decided to ask the University Athletic Club to call a conference of the leading colleges to discuss proposed changes in the football rules, was hailed with delight by all lovers of the game.

It is not generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact, that all of the leading colleges, Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, and Princeton, were notified several months ago that the University Athletic Club would be willing to undertake the appointment of a new Rules Committee, provided the colleges should request such an action.

It has been the basis of the faculty discussion for some time. It is a matter of the most important communications that have appeared yet on the football question, as it states the University's attitude toward the proposed reforms.

It has been the basis of the faculty discussion for some time. It is a matter of the most important communications that have appeared yet on the football question, as it states the University's attitude toward the proposed reforms.

It has been the basis of the faculty discussion for some time. It is a matter of the most important communications that have appeared yet on the football question, as it states the University's attitude toward the proposed reforms.

It has been the basis of the faculty discussion for some time. It is a matter of the most important communications that have appeared yet on the football question, as it states the University's attitude toward the proposed reforms.

It has been the basis of the faculty discussion for some time. It is a matter of the most important communications that have appeared yet on the football question, as it states the University's attitude toward the proposed reforms.

It has been the basis of the faculty discussion for some time. It is a matter of the most important communications that have appeared yet on the football question, as it states the University's attitude toward the proposed reforms.

MISS NOTION TRIED CHLORFORM, BUT HAD A PISTOL IN RESERVE.

A Young Woman, Evidently from New York, Miss Norton in a Boston Hotel—She Failed in Her First Attempt, and When a Doctor's Back Was Turned Shot Herself with a Revolver She Had Concealed.

BOSTON, March 19.—A woman, 30 years old, who registered at the Adams House on Saturday last as Miss Grace M. C. Norton of Holyoke, Mass., and who was in the city for a few days, but said she was from New York, committed suicide at 10 o'clock this afternoon while in her room.

SAILED AWAY TO LIBERIA.

Two Hundred Negro Colonists Leave Savannah Cleared by Thousands.

SAVANNAH, March 19.—The steamer Horsa, with 200 negro emigrants for Liberia, sailed from Savannah this afternoon. Five thousand negroes gathered on the wharf and cheered the ship as it passed down the river.

HE ENTERTAINED A NEGRO.

GOV. O'FERRALL OF VIRGINIA IN AN EMBARRASSING SITUATION.

A Massachusetts Legislative Committee called on him and he offered them $500,000 for the beautiful patterns, excellent wearing quality, and low prices that are combined in our Spring Carpets.

Hard to Get.

THE FACULTY STILL OPPOSED TO INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL.

They Discuss the Athletic Committee's Suggestions and Decide Against Them—The Spring Practice of the Eleven May Be Stopped—Will Harvard Be Represented in the College Conference on Rules?

Hard to Get.

THE FACULTY STILL OPPOSED TO INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL.

They Discuss the Athletic Committee's Suggestions and Decide Against Them—The Spring Practice of the Eleven May Be Stopped—Will Harvard Be Represented in the College Conference on Rules?

Mayor Hopkins.

THE genuine Johann Hoff's Malt is the best tonic I have ever used, and as such I can cheerfully recommend it.

THE UNIVERSITY A. C. WILL PROBABLY CONSENT TO HANDLE THE MATTER. The announcement in yesterday's Sun that Walter Camp and Alce Moffatt, the Advisory Committee of the Intercollegiate Football Association, had decided to ask the University Athletic Club to call a conference of the leading colleges to discuss proposed changes in the football rules, was hailed with delight by all lovers of the game.

Advertisement for Carter's Little Liver Pills, featuring a list of ailments and a testimonial.